

The book cover features a complex geometric design. At the top and bottom are decorative panels with a central diamond-shaped motif, flanked by smaller triangles and topped/bottomed with leaf-like flourishes. A horizontal band with a scalloped edge separates these panels. The word "JOURNAL" is printed in a large, black, serif font in the center. The entire design is enclosed within a wide border of repeating triangles, with a diagonal line of triangles in the corners. The cover material is a textured, light-colored fabric, and the spine on the right shows signs of wear and a purple stain.

To mention all the good books in this library, would take at least a week. We have only an hour! So, like the most of people on similar occasions, I shall mention those books in which I am most interested.

One is BROWNS' JOURNAL, published 1849.

He was a missionary in Liberia, West Africa, for six years. He was a colored preacher, entertained at my Grandfather Williams' home, on the banks of Lake George, New York. I can remember liking to sit in his lap and hear the wonderful stories he told of the happenings in Africa.

We left New York, and Lake George the beautiful, crossing in a sleigh, the ice on the Lake in December, just before my seventh birthday. I remember that ride.

Brown's Journal gives an account of his difficulties and the way he met them, when the Mission House was attacked by hundreds of cannibals who threatened to kill and eat Brown. Parts of the Journal are exceedingly interesting.

Then there are four little, old, leather bound books, inherited from my Aunt Harriet, possibly--because of their rarity--the most valuable books in the library.

THINKS-I-TO-MYSELF.

A SERIO-LUDICRO, TRAGICO-COMICO TALE; written by

THINKS-I-TO-MYSELF-WHO?

Exeter. Published by J & B. Williams. 1836.

The world is about the same that it was a hundred years ago! "Vanity, all is vanity!" was as true then as it is now --and no truer. People then were just as fond of displaying their children's smartness or cuteness as they are now.

Perhaps as many were considering life a failure, and suicide a great adventure worth trying. It is all there in THINKS-I-TO-MYSELF.

We are not thinking as much New Thought as we think we are. It is all old. People have thought it before. Again. And again. And again.

THE MYSTERIES OF UDOLPHO.

A ROMANCE, INTERSPERSED WITH SOME PIECES OF POETRY.

IN THREE VOLUMES. BY ANN RADCLIFFE. EXETER.

Published by J. and B. Williams. 1837.

Mrs. Ann Radcliff (1764 to 1822) wrote the "Best Sellers" of her day. Mysteries of Udolpho was written in 1795 when we were under the reign of George Washington and France was under the reign of terror, and England, the home of Ann Radcliff, was studying what to do about it all, under the guidance of P.

Pitt and Burke, whose policies were antagonistic. England wavered. Mrs. Radcliffe found it wise to ignore the political situation, and devote her talents to mysteries.

And she was proficient. She knew how to write mysterious mysteries. Interesting-perplexing--sometimes horrifying! Usually plausible. Occasionally tedious. A good writer, worthy of the estimate in which she was held by her contemporaries.

DICTIONARIES.

The oldest Dictionary, really the oldest book we have, is a small leather bound volume, preface partly gone, which belonged to my Grandmother Williams's brother, Martin Jenkins.

The preface is dated--Edinburgh, Aug. 16, 1777. This was nearly 150 years ago.

It was called the "Royal Standard English Dictionary." The long s's are used. It was a fine dictionary for its size.

There are also three German Dictionaries and one French Dictionary, and an elderly Webster's Unabridged published in 1906. Noah Webster, author of "Webster's Unabridged" was a boy of about 19 when the "Royal Standard" was published.

BLUE LAWS.

THE CODE OF 1650.

THE EARLIEST LAWS AND ORDERS of the GENERAL COURT OF CONNECTICUT.

Court held at New Haven. A.D. 1643.

For "Profane Swearing"--a fine of ten shillings.

If unable to pay, "Hee shall bee committed to the stocks." All sorts of fines and punishments for all sorts of queer things.

Andrew Low, jun. for breaking into Mr. Ling's house, whence he brake open a cupboard and took from thence some Strong Water, (rum) and 6d. in money, and ransackt the house from roome to roome, and left open the doors, for which fact being committed to prison brake forth and escaped, and still remains horrible obstinate and rebellious against his parents, and incorrigible under all the means that have been used to reclaim him. Whereupon it was ordered that he shall be as severely whipt as the rule will bare, and work with his father as a prisoner with a lock upon his leg so that he may not escape.

I wonder what happened after all this?

B I B L E S.

The oldest bible we have, was printed in Philadelphia in 1815, and belonged to an ancestor. It is leather bound, in good condition and has the long s's.

One of my Grandmother Williams's bibles, bearing her name in her handwriting says:

Jane Ann Williams, Butler, July 6th, 1891.

There is also a small New Testament, revised edition, 1866, in the paragraph form.

Das Neue Testament, German Translation by D. Martin Luther, Berlin, 1903. With Die Psalmen Davids.

Petit Paroissien Romain, a little French Prayer Book

THE APOCRYPHAL NEW TESTAMENT, being all the
GOSPELS, EPISTLES, AND OTHER PIECES
now extant ATTRIBUTED, IN THE FIRST FOUR CENTURIES, to

J E S U S C H R I S T ,

HIS APOSTLES , AND THEIR COMPANIONS,

And NOT INCLUDED IN THE NEW TESTAMENT
BY ITS COMPILERS.

BOSTON: 1866

First Edition, Aug. 1st 1820.

THE GOSPEL OF RAMAKRISHNA.

One of Mr. Duckett's books, which I have found full of interest, and have read and reread, and expect to read again. BHAVAGAN SRI RAMAKRISHNA, was certainly among the greatest of the great teachers of the world.

He lived and taught on the banks of the Ganges, about four miles from Calcutta, India.

T H E K O R A N.

One of my father's books. It has an introduction called:

A PRELIMINARY DISCOURSE, which I found far more instructive and interesting than the Koran itself.

T H E A L C O R A N O F M O H A M M E D ;

Translated into English immediately from the original Arabic; with Explanatory Notes. By George Sale, Gent. Philadelphia: 1851.

Mohammed must be counted among the great men of the world. He did a wonderful work. From a few ignorant Arabian Tribes, he brought forth a conquering nation which has become a great power in the world.

SCRAP BOOKS.

The seven scrap books taken together, contain quite a history of my life and activities, beginning with high school days.

The first is a blue covered "Album" of ancient date--blue is my favorite color--holding 8 to 10 post cards on a page. Many of the pictures take a full page. Contains much of interest to me.

The second is small--only two cards to a page.

The third, called SCRAP BOOK, contains programs of doings at Ruskin University, when at Glen Ellyn, Illinois--near Chicago, where Admer, Zoia and Aurora Miller graduated in Class of 1904. Also picture of building which burned so suddenly, and programs of Ruskin College Affairs to Closing Week, of May 1918.

Number 4 is entitled Post Cards and contains pictures of the auto tent, and the Wheeler family including me, at a Camp near Stoneville, North Carolina, November, 1911, waiting for auto repairs. Below is a picture of the Wheeler home, in Walworth, Wisconsin, near Lake Geneva, where they lived from 1903 to 1911, and I was with them parts of the time. But it would take a large book to tell about all of the pictures.

Number 5 contains some of cards received from Illinois Woman's Press Association, the years that I was a member.

"Who Owns the Earth?", is from Union Signal articles. I wrote much for the Union Signal, and enjoyed meeting Miss Willard, and later Anna Gordon and others.

Here are eight articles published in "Journal of the Knights of Labor", beginning May, 1898. "Are Millionaires a Menace to Our Republic?" brought me innumerable letters from innumerable people. Some of them are here.

Then come maps of Ruskin Colony Lands, and the By-Laws, and letters to me from editors and selections from Ruskin News No. 4 including "Nonsense Column" and then "Ruskin Chronicles". That article surely was an inspiration, as it did much towards settling the numerous difficulties into which we had fallen.

"Life as We See It in Ruskin, Florida," which I reached Oct. 28, probably 1908. After that the Florida articles which helped settle Ruskin. "Pioneering at Ruskin" was also published in the "Journal."

Feb. 1909, Colman's Rural World, published at St. Louis Missouri, began printing articles, six of which are here. Articles to Model Magazine, Litchfield Gazette, Woman's National Daily, Walworth Times in 1909 and 1910. Four to Coldwater Sun and Star, and the last one says: "We had 620 Allottees the last time we counted--and the letters had to be answered, and even by working night and day, I never could catch up." And so the work here was so important and necessary, I had to give up writing regularly to northern papers about Ruskin.

In June, 1916, I attended the National Woman's Party Convention, at Blackstone's Theatre, Chicago, and was accepted as Florida delegate--but without a vote.

Ideal Scrap Book No. 6 contains beautiful cards --hundreds of them! Easter, Birthday, Valentines, St. Patricks, Thanksgiving, Hallowe'en Christmas and New Year cards.

And then--my Mother's Scrap Book which you will notice has met with many hardships. It contains 84 POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

Title Copyright: 1902: by Tribune Company.
48 other equally famous poems, and three prose selections, one at the beginning and the others at the end. The world's greatest poems--in English--are here. The Tribune, later, published its selections in a book and I would like to have it, but it is out of print now.

SOME OF MY FATHER'S FAVORITE BOOKS.

THE HISTORY OF THE DECLINE AND FALL OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE.

Edward Gibbon, Esq. With Notes, By The Rev. H. Milman.
Author's Preface: February 1, 1776.
A Complete Index Of The Whole Work In Six Volumes.
Philadelphia: J.B. Lippincott & Co. 1866.

I remember hearing my father and mother read this history to each other, when I should have been preparing my high school lessons, but much of it was so interesting I had to listen. When it was tiresome I studied.

THE HISTORY OF CHINA AND INDIA,

PICTORIAL & DESCRIPTIVE; BY MISS CORNER.
Author of "THE NATIONAL LIBRARY?" "QUESTIONS ON THE HISTORY OF EUROPE?" &c &c. London. New Edition Enlarged.
1847.

A book my father found in a second-hand book store, in Chicago, and had rebound. The steel engravings are worth looking at.

HISTORY OF THE INTELLECTUAL DEVELOPMENT OF EUROPE.

By JOHN WILLIAM DRAPER, M. D., LL. D., Professor of Chemistry and Physiology in the University of New York; Author of a "Treatise on Human Physiology," "Civil Policy of America," &c. Harper & Brothers, Publishers, 1866. First published in my birth year----- 1856.

I have read and reread this book always with the greatest interest--and I may read it again. It is full of information. More interesting to me than any other book in the Library. Nothing else like it.

THE WORLD BEFORE THE DELUGE.

BY LOUIS FIGUIER.

CONTAINING TWENTY-FIVE IDEAL LANDSCAPES OF THE AN ANCIENT WORLD, DESIGNED BY RIOU, AND TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHT FIGURES OF ANIMALS, PLANTS AND OTHER FOSSIL REMAINS AND RESTORATIONS. TRANSLATED FROM
THE FOURTH FRENCH EDITION, 1865.

An exceedingly interesting book.
As interesting now as it was then.

N E W B O O K S .

But perhaps we have spent all the time we can afford, with the old books, so we will now turn to the new, beginning with an interesting one, which is both old and new. It is selections from Hindu Literature, but copyrighted in 1900. In the:

B O O K O F G O O D C O U N S E L S , the animals are the speakers, and give advice to each other.

Then follow other selections from the treasures of Sanscrit literature, the first translated by Sir Edwin Arnold, who always knew how to select the best of good things. I consider it a most valuable book.

I find this Encyclopedia very satisfactory.

It leaves out non-essentials and tiresome repetitions, but gives the main facts we need to know.

The little Webster Dictionary accompanying it is also satisfactory. It contains Dictionary of Automobile, Aviation-Baseball-Football-Golf-Military and Naval Terms-Music-Photography-Polo-Radio &c.

This is the most expensive set of books I have bought.
But I always wanted it. It cost $85.40, but is a beautiful edition finely illustrated. I remember "Message to Garcia when it first appeared. It made Elbert Hubbard famous.

" It has been translated into eleven languages, and been given a total circulation of over twenty-two million copies."

I have met and talked with Elbert Hubbard.

DANTE'S INFERNO

Translated by The Rev. Henry Francis Cary, M.A. From the original of DANTE ALIGHIERI.

Illustrated with the designs of M. GUSTAVE DORE.

With Critical and Explanatory Notes, Life of Dante, and Chronology. New York: 1887.

Hell illustrated. Most interesting pictures. Dante seemed to take pleasure in placing his enemies in curious states of torment. Presented to the Library by Maude Haughey.

THE PHOTOGRAPHIC HISTORY OF THE CIVIL WAR.

Volume Three. THE DECISIVE BATTLES.

Introduction by FREDERICK DENT GRANT, Major-General. U.S. Army.

Volume Ten. ARMIES AND LEADERS.

Contributors: Two Professors, One Artist and Author, and Five Officers, part of the United States Army, part of the Confederate States Army.

All men who were there and saw what was done.

These were my Mother's books, ten volumes to be divided among four daughters. I wrote, if they would give me volumes 3 and 10 -- the others might have the 8 -- to which all agreed. So I had my choice and took DECISIVE BATTLES and ARMIES AND LEADERS. For various reasons, only a limited number of sets were published. So these are among the rare books.

And then an Astronomy! An old, old Astronomy. Published in 1848. It has the most wonderful maps that I have ever seen I used to love that book when I was a child. I studied it and recited the lessons to my Father. And he explained to me.

SMITH'S ILLUSTRATED ASTRONOMY.

Designed for the use of the Public or Common Schools in the United States. Illustrated with numerous original diagrams. By A S A SMITH, Principal of Public School NO. 12, City of New York. Third Edition. 1848.

I have spent many pleasant as well as instructive hours with it. Hope never to lose it.

One of the most valuable additions to the Library is the gift of the well-known Lecturer, Dr. Edward Ellis Carr, now of Tampa, formerly of Chicago, where I met them years ago. He gave about 200, worthy books. Some of them go to nearly every department in the Library, although Religion and Socialism claim the most.

To tell about the good books in this collection would take more time than we have at our disposal

You will just have to look for yourselves! They are here scattered all through the Library. Read them.

He also sent us some good fiction, which is highly appreciated, as many Ruskin readers delight in the right kind of stories.

So we all owe:

DR. EDWARD ELLIS CARR

a vote of thanks.

The latest addition to the Library is 8 good books of fiction, given by Miss Helen P. Ware, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, now visiting Ruskin--or me--and St. Petersburg.

Miss Ware is one of our early Allottees, and came to see her lot and tract.

I am reading one of the books she sent.

"The Crossing" by Winston Churchill, a story of the early days, well written and interesting as well as instructive.

We meet Daniel Boone as man and Andrew Jackson as boy in the first chapters--all I have had time to read yet.

One of the best books here is: The Man Nobody Knows. A Discovery of Jesus.

Miss Leonard presented it recently, and Miss Ware and I read it twice, and I shall read it again. I think we can all understand that wonderful life better by reading this book.

So, from 1030 Opening Day, June 18th, 1922, we have grown to about 1630, March 24th, 1926.

- 36 Glimpses of Fifty Years 1839 -- 1889 Frances E. Willard.
Published by Woman's Temperance Publishing Association, Chicago, 1892. Introduction by Hannah Whitall Smith
A wonderfully interesting book written by a wonderful woman. Founder of World's W. C. T. U. Miss Willard visited foreign countries again and again and became one of the modern world's greatest travelers. Heard Miss Willard speak in Chicago, and asked questions. Her successor, Lilian M. N. Stevens, whose attention had been attracted by my "Union Signal" articles, requested me to call on her, and tried to persuade me to become Lecturer and Organizer for the W. C. T. U., but I declined. I visited Rest Cottage at Evanston, and was entertained by Miss Gordon. Also became well acquainted with Mrs. Canman, who invited me to her home in Evanston and Camp at Lake Forest. The winter she came to Florida she wrote me to visit her in Tampa, which I did. The Polyglot, Petition for prohibition, included seven and a half adherents, in fifty nationalities, making five miles of names. This petition was presented to President Cleveland by Miss Willard. Miss Gordon left me alone in Miss Willard's room to examine its world wide treasures

- 40 Life, Trials and Travels of George Brown, Six Years a Missionary in Liberia, West Africa. A frequent guest in my Grandfather William's home. We left Lake George, New York, just before I was seven, but I remember sitting on Mr. Brown's lap. He was a colored man and about 60 then. Negroes in the North were treated the same as white people. At Quarterly Meetings my Grandmother Williams always entertained Ministers and presiding elders, who were proud to sit at the same table with Mr. Brown the well-known African Missionary. His African experiences were strange and intensely interesting.

Published, 1849.
Born in 1801.

Some of the Kings of the cannibal tribes determined to "get Brown" and either eat him or sell him as a slave. Several hundred surrounded the Mission and fought over an hour, with only a few a very few to help him. There were three women and 26 children to be protected from the cannibals and slave catchers.

They succeeded in shooting Gotarah—their leading King, whom they believed to be invincible. The cannibals retreated when Brown had only one loaded musket and one cartridge left, and his assistants but two charges of ammunition.

they = his followers.

biographical sketch by Thomas W. Handford..
- The last time I heard him was on his last visit to Chicago. I went two hours early and found a solid line several blocks long, standing in snow and slush, slowly entering. After we had got within perhaps a half block, the church doors were closed-- the church was full! Slowly and regretfully the most of the crowd departed, but a hundred or two waited to hear the singing. Then I succeeded in getting on the steps and as near the doors as I could. After the singing the doors were opened a few minutes--a little standing room in the aisles--and I squeezed in, and succeeded in getting where I could see a little as well as hear. Persistence had its due reward. He was an orator if there ever was one!

From the Bottom Up.
The Life Story of Alexander Irvine.

Published 1910.

Worth reading. One of the most interesting books in the whole Library. He was O.E.'s friend. Orlando Edgar Miller, when lecturing in England, interested him in Ruskin. We hoped they would both stay with Ruskin, but they found more friends and opportunities in San Francisco--so Florida lost them and California won. O.E. was one of the best friends I ever had. We still write occasionally.

Caesar's Character, or in Defense of the Standard of Mankind.

By William Waddell.

A scathing rebuke of Caesar, as the monster of iniquity of his age, and of all ages. "This and the age following were probably the most corrupt the world has ever seen, and it had to be so for Caesar to prosper, for in a more virtuous age he would have had too many Catos, Ciceros and Catulli to overcome... Cicero, in his letters of this time, says repeatedly that Caesar had all the criminal and obnoxious of all Italy in his army." Interesting.

Karl Marx, His Life and Work,

By John Spargo.

Illustrated with good pictures of Heine, Fourier, Albert Brisbane, Liebknecht, Lassalle, Mazzini, Proudhon and many others besides Marx himself and his wife, Johanna von Westphalen, who was really a most wonderful woman, obliged sometimes to suffer the extremes of poverty--because of the Cause. Also Friedrich Engels.

A valuable and interesting book, given the Library by Dr. Carr. Marx and his wife are both characters worth knowing.

The Birth-Cry of Modern Socialism.

The "Communist Manifesto."

The International Working Men's Association. These are important chapters..

"The outbreak of the American Civil War, in 1861, brought a new misfortune to Marx. The New York Tribune had given up its London correspondence, so that Marx lost the only steady and certain source of income he had. Thus is the whole world linked together.

Touree Albion W. A Wonderful man with a wonderful record in the South. I considered it a high privilege, when I was able to talk with him, and hear him lecture in Chicago. His "Fool's Errand" did a wonderful work in helping the North to understand the South. He started his Magazine hoping to help the situation, and I think he did. Our Continent was one of the best publications of its day. 1882. Our Continent was started as an Illustrated Weekly, Volume I -- February -- June 1882, newspaper size. 4 dollars a year. Volume II changed to a more convenient magazine size. "Under Green Apple Boughs," by Helen Campbell I considered one of the best stories I had ever read.

- 313 Our Continent. Vol I. February to June. 1882.

 This History has a romantic history of its own.
 It was not considered wise, by the authorities, to permit its publication for many many years.
 When published, it was expensive--I think my Mother paid $100 for her set, which was willed to her four children. I told my sisters I would take two volumes as my share, if they would give me my choice--which they did.

The book we used when we came South.
The Wheeler's started from Walworth, Wisconsin, Oct. 4th 1911. Came to Chicago and stayed two or three days visiting, and then we started for Florida. Good roads were scarce and we traveled over several States looking for them. It was the most interesting trip of my life, so far. All sorts of adventures--camping by the roadside a week waiting for repairs, etc., etc., etc.

Prove To Be True. Progress Co. Chicago. 1908.
143. The Other Mile. Rev. J. B. Wolfe, S. T. D. 1915
144. The Gospel of Ramakrishna.
A wonderful book, presented to me by Mr.
Duckett because I was so interested in it.
Bhagavan Sri Ramakrishna (1836-1888) lived for many years in a Temple Garden on the eastern bank of the Ganges, near Calcutta, India, and taught daily.
Narendra (Vivekananda) Whom I heard when he was was in Chicago in the early eighties, was his devoted disciple. I have read the book and reread it and expect to read it again. It interests me.
