Edition White-Smith. Stone Work. Unequaled.

Attention has already been called to, and great interest been created for, the exceedingly artistic White, Smith & Co. American editions of the works of the monarchs of music of the old world. Each day sees some new work issued by this energetic house, and still the work goes on. Too much cannot be said in praise of these reprints, as, when the entire approbative scale has been sounded throughout the full gamut of commendation, the half will not have been told. To properly set forth their merits would demand time and space far in excess of what can be accorded within the limits of an entire volume even, and hence but a brief mention can be made herein of certain of the more prominent works in this repertoire of musical treasures.

VERDI'S REQUIEM MASS.

COMPOSED IN MEMORY OF ALESSANDRO MANZONI.

This is a work of about 240 pages, each of which is a perfect specimen of "the art preservative." And seldom is it more worthily employed. American musicians certainly owe a debt of gratitude to the publishers of this work for having placed within their reach such a splendid edition of this work by Verdi, among his very latest and best. Printed upon paper of fine texture and snowy whiteness, in most excellent press-work, every note in the score seeming to stand out from the surface, so faithfully have both engraver and pressman accomplished their labors, the whole neatly and strongly bound in covers well adapted to the preservation of the contents confided to their keeping. And all this furnished at a price far below that which is charged for the poorest among the foreign editions. This work should find an honorable place in the library of every musician.

GOUNOD'S MESSE SOLENNELLE.

(THIRD.)

This is a reprint from the Novello Edition, and a finer specimen of the typographical science in every respect. It is an exquisite creation of one of the very greatest composers of the present day, as the illustrious master to whose genius we are indebted for it has but recently "passed over to the majority," and this work might easily be considered as a personal "in memoriam." Though lacking certain of the remarkable incidents connected with the production of the Mozart Requiem, this composition, if not Gounod's Requiem, may not inaptly be styled his memorial. This edition is no discredit to the glorious master who created it, and will challenge the most rigid inspection.

GOUNOD'S MESSE SOLENNELLE (ST. CECILIA).

A work eminently adapted to convention and choral presentation, and in this edition presented in a style that will command it favorably to all. The plate-work of this book is a triumph in this department of the printer's art.

AS THE HART PANTS: MENDELSSOHN'S FORTY-SECOND PSALM.

An excellent edition of this, one of the most beautiful creations of its gifted composer. The exceedingly low price for which this book is supplied, 30 cents, should secure for it a widely extended sale.

MAX BRUCI'S "FAIR ELLEN."

An exceedingly bright work, designed for programmes not devoted to the more extended musical compositions. Admirably adapted to convention and concert use.

HAYDN'S TWELFTH MASS IN E FLAT.

REPRINT OF THE NOVELLO EDITION.

Of all the sacred compositions of "Papa Haydn," as the very many contemporaries and admiring friends of immortal Joseph Haydn delighted to call him, this has often been styled the best. To take rank at the head of such an array of all that is beautiful and exquisitely scientific in an analytical sense is certainly most honorable; and no one who has a just conception of the status of the question will hesitate to say, that, if the work itself is at the head in a musical sense, the present edition is also No. 1, typographically speaking. It is simply perfect, and that is all there is about it.

HAYDN'S SONATAS.

REPRINTED FROM THE LITOLFF EDITION, AND EVERY PAGE GUARANTEED IN POINT OF ACCURACY AND WORKMANSHIP.

The old world never presented musicians with a finer copy of these exquisite creations by Haydn, and all are earnestly invited to give this volume a critical examination. A copy of this work should be in the possession of every one possessing the interests of the musician.

MARCHESI'S 20 VOCALISES.

Each of this score of exercises is a vocal treasure, the entire work being practically a bound volume of exquisite gems. In point of typography, it cannot be excelled. The attention of master and pupil are particularly called to this work as among the very best of the vocal text-books now in use. In point of typographical excellence, it is equal to the best.

LUTGEN'S VOCAL TECHNIQUE.

REPRINT FROM THE PETERS EDITION.

This work is an exceedingly desirable textbook for vocal students, and has received the unqualified endorsement of many of the world's very best masters of music. No teacher should be without a copy, and no pupil should fail to secure one.

KOHLER'S PRACTICAL METHOD FOR THE PIANO. VOLS. 1, 2, 3, AND 4.

REPRINTED FROM THE LITOLFF EDITION.

The attention of teachers is earnestly directed to these editions, which, in every point connected with musical study, leave nothing to be desired. They are worthy the confidence of all.

BERTINI'S STUDIES FOR PIANO, OP. 29 AND 32.

The value of these text-books has too long been fully established to require any extended dissertation upon their merits as an educational element. We will only call attention to the excellence of this edition from a typographical standpoint, as they are most excellent specimens of what good workmen can accomplish.

DIABELLI'S FOUR-HANDS EXERCISES. BOOKS 1, 2, 3, AND 4.

Bound complete in one volume, and sold at the exceedingly low price of 50 cents; less than the usual price of each book separate, as formerly. This four-handed method of teaching is an excellent idea, as it adds an interest to rudimental practice, which otherwise might be dull and uninteresting. Any system or measure that will confine the attention of the pupil during hours of study and practice is desirable and to be earnestly commended. For this purpose these exercises have been prepared and are always interesting.

PRACTICAL PIANO SCHOOL, BY DR. SIGISMUND LEBERT AND LOUIS STARK, PROFESSORS IN THE CONSERVATORY AT STUTTGART.

These are in four parts, issued at $3 each, of which parts 1 and 2 are now ready, and 3 and 4 will follow in due course. Part 1 is devoted to elementary details, and is subdivided into four books, each of which can be furnished at $1.50 each. Part 1 contains eight extra pages of the latest revisions of its distinguished authors, and is a most valuable assistant in the prosecution of elementary piano study. Part 2 is devoted to exercises and studies for pupils who have advanced from the elementary stage, and is judiciously progressive. These books will prove of inestimable benefit to all interested in piano practice.

A liberal discount will be made on the White, Smith & Co. American editions to all dealers, conventions, societies, or other associations desirous of using quantities. Those interested should not fail to examine the works in this collection as eminently deserving their attention.

C. A. White's SACRED SONGS.

SUITABLE FOR

Church or Sunday - School Concerts.

THAT LITTLE CHURCH AROUND THE CORNER.

A fitting tribute to the real Christianity of Dr. Houghton in throwing open the doors of his church, which a neighboring divine sneeringly alluded to as above, on the occasion of the funeral of George Holland, the aged and well-known actor. With a lithograph picture of the little church for a titlepage.

BEYOND THE VALE.

A song full of promise for "the blest hereafter." With a beautiful illustrative lithograph titlepage.

BEYOND THE CLOUDS.

Another of similar promise and beauty, and sure to commend itself at a hearing.

WAITING AND WATCHING FOR ME.

The tender thought of a pure-hearted maiden, told in beautiful verse and exquisite melody. One of those songs which will never be forgotten. Illustrative lithographic titlepage.

ON THE BRIGHT GOLDEN SHORE.

An answer and fitting sequel to the beautiful song above described, and equally popular. Illustrative titlepage.

CLIMBING THE GOLDEN STAIR.

A weary child has gone to her long rest, and the bereaved mother tells her sorrow to her dead darling's pet bird. Very beautiful and very touching.

Price of the above-named, 40 cents. Copies sent to any address on receipt of that amount.

Songs of Sentiment.

Three ballads of the sentimental order, by C. A. White, which are far superior to the average of this class of compositions, are, "Come and kiss me, Katie Darling," "Take me back again, Mavourneen," and "I've called you back again, Kathleen," the words of the latter being written by Earl Marble. These ballads are admirably adapted to minstrel or concert programmes which are made up from the selections of the lighter order of music. Price of each, 40 cents.

SONGS OF THE SEA.

Lovers of sea songs will be well pleased with two of C. A. White's songs, written in his strongest and most effective style,— "Committed to the Deep," and "God pity the Men on the Sea tonight," both arranged for alto or bass, and the latter also harmonized for quartettes of male or mixed voices.

C. A. White's TEMPERANCE SONGS.

The attention of temperance organizations is respectfully called to the following exquisite songs from the prolific fountain of melody of C. A. White.

Cup of Woe.

Duett for tenor and bass. One of the best of this class of compositions, and a favorite with all workers in the temperance cause. A duett between two brothers, in which the curse of intemperance is truthfully portrayed. Illustrated titlepage. Price 60 cents.

Please sell no more Drink to my Father.

Song and chorus. The pathetic appeal of a ragged child to the rumseller, that he would desist from adding to the degradation of her erring but beloved father. Timely and pleadingly pathetic. Price 40 cents.

Benny's Tears are Dried forever.

One of Mr. White's happiest melodic efforts, joined to a story pathetic and appealing. Illustrated titlepage. Price 40 cents.

Help Drive the Wedge.

Quartette, and a very beautiful one, admirably adapted to all temperance gatherings where-in music "and the sweet voice of song" adds its mighty force to the good work. Price 35 cents.

The Poor Drunkard's Child.

Song and chorus. The pleading of a child to her father, that he will not leave her alone in their desolate home, to visit the rum-shop. A most touching story and a pleasing melody. Price 40 cents.

Poor Little Johnny.

This is one of those appealing creations which develops the "touch of nature" that "makes the whole world kin." Few can listen to it unmoved. Price 40 cents.

Where the Rippling Waters Flow.
